

My code gives the correct outputs for the 10 inputs you provided for the test, but when I first tried input9 and input10, I got different outputs, I hope I didn't miss anything. Thanks for your dedication.

Except error handling, I have tried to not use repeating code blocks. However, handling errors in the main method is against "clean code" approach. I actually did not trust my coding skills enough to have clean main method.